Early potatoes will be a practical failure in this section by reason of the drouth. Good soaking rains might save the later varieties, but they would have to come within the next few days, as the vines are beginning to show yellow and withering at the roots in many fields. The rains yesterday helped a lot, but we need more in these surroundings.

Why hunger long for a fresh, juicy vland when you can step into an up-to-date fruit and vegetable store and for a small bit of money fully satisfy your appetite? J. B. Cottle is the latest of our citizens to "loosen" to Lew Mensch for the price of a new Ford runabout, having been just slow enough in making up his mind to get in on the August 1st reduction. And now if any of the county telephone subscribers are having any phone trouble just call Jim up, night or day, and he'll run out in a jiffy and put you right. It will be no trouble to him, "the way he has of doing it."

C. V. Card, an oil operator in the Henrys Mills district of Warren county brought suit last week before Justice Borden, of Sheffield, seeking to enjoin the South Penn Oil Co. from pumping its wells in that district on Sunday. The contention of the company was that the wells must be pumped daily to prevent their depreciation which was sustained by the testimony of many expert oil men. The justice handed down a decision refusing the injunction on the ground that the work was necessary.

The County Commissioners of Pennsylvania closed their annual convention at Erie Friday, with the election of the following officers: President, J. C. Thomas, of Erie; Vice Presidents, J. T. Wallace, of Venango county, and F. D. Miller, of Lancaster; Secretary, M. C. Altburg, of Crawford; Treasurer, George Wallen, of Delaware. The next convention will be held at Stroudsburg, Monroe county, at a date to be announced by the president.

Here is the story of a loon. The loon lived in the neighborhood of an island in a stream not far from DuBois. Two boys saw it in the stream and were told not to shoot at it. They shot. They did not have licenses to hunt and were arrested for shooting a bird protected by law. Meanwhile the bird was sent to a taxidermist to be mounted. Then it turned out that the taxidermist was not licensed and he was arrested. Now the bird is in the office of the state game commission, where it will trouble no one except the owls and herons and other stuffed birds which stare from the shelves and from mute evidences of people's arrests.

The barn of Thomas Hahn, on his farm located on the public road between Leeper and Snyderburg, Clarion county, was struck by lightning and totally destroyed by the fire which followed, during a severe electrical storm which passed over that section last Friday evening. The bolt struck the barn about 8 o'clock and the flames spread so rapidly that Mr. Hahn was able to save only his team of horses and harness from the burning structure, everything else in it being consumed. He had practically all his hay and part of his other crops of the season in the barn and places his loss at $800, on which there was an insurance of $500.

Supt. J. O. Carson has made final arrangements as to the talent secured for the forty-eighth annual session of the Forest County Teachers' Institute, to be held in Marienville, October 19-23, 1914. The day instructors will be Dr. Harlan E. Hall, of Mansfield, Ohio, Dr. O. L. Warren, of Elmira, N. Y., and Supt. F. H. Gaige, of Lock Haven, Pa. For the evening entertainments he has secured Prof. Geo. C. Williams, Monologist, of Ithaca, N. Y., in a portrayal of Harold Bell Wright's famous story of the "Shepherd of the Hills." The Conservatory Trio of Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y., and The Rogers Grille Co., of Pittsburgh, Pa.

The people in this vicinity who are interested in suffrage and the reform movements of the day will be pleased to know that Rev. Mecca Marie Varney, D. D., is coming to Tionesta Tuesday evening, August 18, to deliver one of her lectures on the above subject. As a speaker Mrs. Varney stands in the front ranks of the great speakers of the day. She is an accomplished home-maker, a college graduate, a fraternity and club woman. She has been the successful minister of several large churches and has been prominent in reform work. A cordial invitation is extended to all to hear this talented speaker at the Court House. An offering will be taken.

The following personal mention, in which a former Tionesta boy is concerned, is taken from the Kane Republican of the 7th inst.: "Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Helm announce the engagement of their daughter, Lora E. to Dr. Karl E. Wenk at a luncheon given, yesterday, in her honor by Miss Heim and Miss Christine Heim. A plaque of blue and pink roses formed the centerpiece for the table and the favors were rose eyes of the same flower. The out-of-town guests were: Miss Nettie Peniz, of DuBois, a house guest of Miss Lora Heim; Miss Louise Neal, of Union City, and the Misses Camilla and Harriet Rising, of Hoosick Falls, N. Y."

Friends of Rev. Father Joseph B. Keegan, of Emporium, Pa., will be grieved to learn of his death which occurred last Friday at the parish home in that place. His illness of pleurisy and pneumonia lasted about three weeks. Father Keegan is remembered in this vicinity as a former pastor of Tidoute and Tionesta R. C. churches, and afterwards was for several years pastor of the church at Crown, Pa. In March last he was transferred to the Emporium charge, taking the place of Father Thomas B. Downey, who went to Franklin. During his short pastorate there he made many friends. The body was taken to Philadelphia, his former home, for burial.

Miss Carrie Exley of Oil City and Simon W. Mong of Tulsa, Okla., were married at 7 o'clock Tuesday August 4, 1914, at Bethel M. E. church presaged by the pastor, Rev. C. H. Frampton. They left Wednesday for a visit with relatives in Clarion county and at Walnut Bend, after which they will leave for Tulsa. The bride has been a resident of Oil City for the past nine years, having been engaged as a dressmaker and has many friends there. The groom is employed in the oil fields of Oklahoma and on his return there will be transferred to California.—Venango Herald, Oil City department. The REPUBLICAN joins Mr. Mong's large circle of friends in this community in extending best wishes for future happiness and prosperity to him and his bride.

The large dancing pavilion located near the cross roads near Henry Kaman's home, German Hill, was destroyed by fire between one and two o'clock, Friday afternoon. There had been no one near the building that day that anyone knows of, and the origin of the fire is shrouded in mystery, the only possible explanation being that it may have been fired by lightning, as a storm was in progress at the time, though no report was heard in that vicinity sufficient to cause apprehension of a lightning stroke. When discovered the whole inside was aflame and there was no possibility of saving the structure. The pavilion was enclosed with roof and sidewalks, and Ray Shortz, who had but a short time prior acquired the interest of his partner, Henry Kaman, in the building, had recently installed a new organ, which was burned up. Mr. Shortz' loss will be about $300, with no insurance. He is firmly of the opinion that the fire was of incendiary origin.

The Twenty Year Test.
"Some twenty years ago I used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy," writes Geo. W. Brock, publisher of the Enterprise, Aterdeen, Md. "I discovered that it was a quick and safe cure for diarrhoea. Since then no one can sell me anything said to be 'just as good.' During all these years I have used it and recommended it many times, and it has never disappointed anyone." For sale by all dealers. adv

W. S. Brown, a well-known former resident of this community, is back on a visit to old friends. He has been engaged for the past four years in drilling water wells in Oregon, with headquarters at Portland, and expects to return to that section in a short time.

A card from our old friend Peter Young of Tylersburg conveys the good news that his son Henry is improving from his recent attack of typhoid fever, and that he has about reached the convalescent stage. All of which his friends in this vicinity will be glad to learn.

Harry M. Robertson, who superintended the construction of the creek bridge at the Coleman mill at Johns run last fall, was here over Sunday visiting Tionesta friends. He is at present engaged for his company in relaying the floor of the Valley bridge at Franklin with cross-ties blocks.

Gus Warden and Will Foellhart were down from Endeavor and saw Tionesta wallop Sigel on the ball grounds Thursday afternoon. Endeavor has a good team and a fine field newly fitted up, and it is possible that manager Warden will invite our boys up to a friendly tilt before the good weather is all gone.

Hon. N. P. Wheeler and family were greatly relieved last week, Thursday, when they received a cablegram from their son, Rev. Rex Wheeler, stating that he and Mrs. Wheeler were safe and well at Milan, Italy. Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler have been in Europe since their marriage, two months ago, and it was his intention to pursue his studies at Oxford university for a few months before returning home, but the war may cause him to change his plans and sail for America as soon as transportation can be obtained.

Mrs. Fred R. Klinefister, of Nebraska, is this week entertaining her father, Rev. George Ballentine, of East Smithfield, Pa., her aunt, Mrs. J. E. Gillette, of Athens, Pa., her cousin, Miss Lura Hardig, of Kane, Pa., and her sister, Mrs. R. B. Longwell and daughter Geraldine, of New Albany, Pa. Mrs. Longwell is the wife of Rev. R. B. Longwell and together they have been missionaries in Assam, India, for the past seven years, coming home recently for a furlough of fourteen months. He will join his family at Nebraska the last of the week.

Lumbermen Become Publishers.

The following item appeared in a recent issue of the American Lumberman, under a Portland, Oregon, date of Aug. 1st. J. E. Wheeler, one of the gentlemen referred to, was for some time connected with the firm of Wheeler & Dusenbury at Endeavor, where he is well known and has a host of friends:

"Two well-known lumbermen recently became owners through purchase of one of Portland's daily evening papers, the Evening Telegram. They are J. E. and E. R. Wheeler, sons of the late W. E. Wheeler, of Portville, N. Y., who for years was one of the largest timber operators on the Atlantic coast and particularly in Pennsylvania. J. E. Wheeler, who is president of the Wheeler Timber Company, with offices in the Yeon building, and the McCormick Lumber Company, which operates on Willapa Harbor, Wash., came to Portland 25 years ago. He is also one of the directors of the Lumbermen's National Bank of this city.

"Mr. Wheeler is regarded as one of the foremost business men in the State and stands in the highest esteem. His brother is a young man, three years ago a graduate of Yale, and is also engaged in the timber business. The Telegram has been owned for the past quarter of a century by the Oregonian Publishing Company. Mr. Wheeler stated that in politics the paper will be Republican. It will work for the natural resources of the State and for the advancement of the community. Interested with the Wheeler brothers in the purchase is John F. Carroll, for eight years managing editor and business manager of the paper. He will continue in that capacity."

The Methodist Picnic.

The Tionesta Methodist Episcopal Sunday school held its annual picnic last Friday in Rodda's grove on the banks of the Allegheny, in the borough. The various committees in charge had carefully perfected their plans for making the occasion the great delight and pleasure it proved to be for all who had the privilege of attending. The grounds had been put in splendid order, with swings and other delights for the younger element, while rocking chairs, camp chairs and benches were provided for those who chose to spend some time in social conversation, while every eye carefully surveyed the great tables that occupied the central portion of the grove. After the game of ball the company assembled in the beautiful grove until it was estimated that from 250 to 275 persons were on the grounds.

The ball game, which was called at 1:30, at the Tionesta ball park, should have more than a passing notice. The single men crossed bats with the married men, playing a game with some very unusual features. Davis and Thomson formed the battery for the single, while Lanson and Maxwell, with Childs as substitute pitcher, made up the battery for the married men. E. W. Bowman filled the trying position of umpire. When the smoke of the battle had cleared away the official scorekeeper announced that the married men had been defeated by a score of 12 to 5. Among the most prominent features was the batting of Billy Upton, the fielding of A. W. Stroup, and the slide to third by Supt. Maxwell. Davis, who had excellent control, had much the better of the pitcher's battle, and the prediction was made that Davis and Thomson will star with any of the amateurs of the county.

The other contests were entered into with much spirit. The 50-yard dash was participated in by the men of the Brotherhood Bible Class, the laurel going to L. T. Shriver. The 100-yard dash, which was open to the young men of Mrs. Watson's class, was won by Joe Glassner. The same contest, open to the boys of Mr. Mealy's class, was won by Arthur Thomas. The 50-yard dash, by young ladies, was won by Margaret Bowman, and in a similar event by the girls of Miss Lanson's class, the goal was reached first by May Lusher. An egg race, in which several ladies contested, caused much merriment and was won by Cora Kable. In the sack race the victor was Parker Flick, while the three-legged race was captured by Leonard Cropp and Leroy Thomson.

At five o'clock the committee in charge of the picnic dinner had completed its work and the great tables were groaning with their load of toothsome victuals so tempting to the appetite on such an occasion. Realizing the amount of labor involved in preparing such a perfect picnic dinner, which was served so faultlessly, this committee is to be commended.

The Sunday school desires to express its appreciation of the kindness and courtesy extended to it in many ways by Mr. Rodda, and also to those persons who with their buggies and automobiles assisted to and from the grove many persons who otherwise could not have been there. No serious accidents happened to mar the enjoyment of the day and it was the unanimous expression of all that the day was well spent and will long be remembered as a most pleasant outing.

Golden Wedding Anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. McKenzie.

A very interesting social occasion of this week was the celebration of the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. John C. McKenzie, residents at Newmansville, Clarion county, and vicinity for many years. On Monday old friends neighbors and relatives to the number of about two hundred gathered at the home at the above place in honor of the happy event and to extend congratulations and best wishes for many more years of continued health and happiness.

Sunday, the 9th, was the fiftieth anniversary of the wedding, and by a happy coincidence, Monday, the 10th, was the seventy-seventh anniversary of the birth of Mr. McKenzie, the celebration being thus in the nature of a double event.

Every detail customary upon such events was duly observed. Rev. H. Lee Dunlavy, pastor of the Tionesta M. E. church, made the congratulatory address, and in closing introduced other speakers who spoke reminiscences of their acquaintance and admiration for their aged friends, among whom were the following: Rev. C. H. Frampton, pastor of Bethel M. E. church, Oil City, an old pastor; Rev. W. E. Frampton, pastor of the Rousseville M. E. church and also a former pastor; Rev. J. H. Summerton, of Tylersburg M. E. church, a Grand Army comrade and present pastor; Hon. F. X. Kreitzer, of Nebraska; and Geo. F. Watson, of Tionesta, former employers for years; and Mr. Samuel Whitten, a neighbor for years. Many very pleasant things were said of both host and hostess by the speakers and the best thing of all is that everything that was said was deserved. Both Mr. and Mrs. McKenzie responded in well-chosen words expressing their appreciation.

John C. McKenzie and Mary Warden VanHouten were united in marriage at Reidsburg, Clarion county, August 9, 1864. The groom was at that time a gallant soldier of the Civil war and had returned home from the front on furlough for the happy event, the bride being one of the most beautiful and accomplished young ladies of Reidsburg. Mr. McKenzie enlisted when the war broke out in Co. C, 10th Regt. Penna. Reserves, and at the end of his first enlistment re-enlisted in the 5th Regt., U. S. Regular Artillery, serving faithfully more than three years in defence of his country. This union was blessed with eight children, five of whom are still living. Of the five living children four are daughters, all of whom were present with their husbands and families, as follows: Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Carbaugh and four sons; Mr. and Mrs. C. Tomadison and five children; Mr. and Mrs. O. W. McKenzie and two children; Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Smith and five children, all of Kellestville, Pa. Additional relatives in attendance were: Mr. and Mrs. K. E. McKenzie, Mr. and Mrs. M. S. McKenzie, of Franklin; Mrs. Bert Lawhead and son Paul, of Butler; Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Porter, Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Baker, and Mrs. J. W. McKenzie, of Helen Furnace, Pa. Twenty-six grandchildren and four great-grandchildren were among the company.

The tokens of remembrance were not confined to mere words, for the presents included a purse of fifty-five dollars in gold, three dollars in bills and a long list of useful and beautiful articles, such as cut-glass, linen, etc.

A splendid dinner was served to all and when the guests departed they were refreshed both physically and intellectually. Only those who participated in the refreshments furnished on such occasions can appreciate the splendid dinner served and all declared it surpassed any of their experience.

Not many couples are permitted to live to see their golden wedding, and it is still more rarely that such lasting friendships have been formed as in this case.

Besides the above mentioned and a long list of immediate neighbors, the following were guests: Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Watson, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Watson, Mrs. Cora Watson Felt, Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Hopkins, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Porter and daughter Miss Bessie, Rev. and Mrs. H. Lee Dunlavy and daughter Miss Evelyn, of Tionesta; Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Small, Mrs. S. H. Secor; Mrs. K. C. Haug, Mrs. C. A. Harrison, Mrs. Truman Hingman, Mrs. G. B. McKown, Mrs. Geo. Young, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. DeWoody, Miss Ida McKown, of Nebraska; Mrs. L. E. Walters, Seattle, Wash.; Mrs. Grand Bigman and Mr. Walter Bingham, Pittsburg; Miss Ruth Maine, Warren; Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Kinch, Miss Amy Kinch, Mr. Orin Kinch, Dr. and Mrs. C. Y. Detar, Miss Margaret and Russell Detar, Mrs. U. S. Day and Miss Valrie Day, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Watson, Mr. John Cook, Kellestville; Rev. and Mrs. W. E. Frampton, Rousseville; Rev. J. H. Summerton and daughter Miss Estelle, of Tylersburg; Miss Zelma Daum of Oil City.

As if to still further show their love and esteem for the "happy young couple" about 50 neighbors gathered at the home-stead late in the evening and tendered them a rousing old-fashioned serenade.

Dr. Siggins Marooned in London.

The following is taken from Friday's issue of the Oil City Blizzard:

"Mrs. J. B. Siggins received in this morning's mail several postcards and letters from her husband, Mayor Siggins, who is attending the Congress of Surgeons at London, England. It is evident the trans-Atlantic mail service has been put to the bad by war, as some of the post cards were written on board the Laurentic, on which steamer the mayor sailed from Montreal to Liverpool. Others were written at Liverpool and upon his arrival in London.

"It is evident there was nothing startling in the way of a war scare when the last letter, dated July 28, was written, as no mention of any undue excitement was made by the writer, who told of being busy going from one hospital to another, with the surgeons, attending the clinics held under the supervision of some of the most noted members of the profession in the world. Requested mail addressed to him up until August 1, in care of Congress, and no mention was made of having secured passage on any special steamer for the homeward passage. He had paid a visit to the Tower of London and said its history was entirely too barbarous to be of any special interest to him.

"Mrs. Siggins is hopeful her husband left Liverpool for Montreal on one of the steamers sailing early this week and thinks it possible that any cablegram he may have addressed to her has been held up on account of the war."
